

Sudha's magic, yet again

CONCERT

Vocalist Sudha Raghunathan enthralled a jam-packed auditorium by rendering old, popular Carnatic numbers, as part of Kalpa Druma's annual festival

Pix: P. Jawahar

WHEN it comes to a Sudha Raghunathan concert, a jam-packed hall is no surprise. And at her latest offering too, fans thronged the venue, Sivagami Petachi Auditorium, well before the concert began, on Sunday.

The vocalist gave her concert as part of the Kalpa Druma Arts Festival and throughout the two-hour show, the audience was awestruck by her flawless voice that took them on a melodious, spiritual journey of soulful music. Her rendering of some of the most popular Carnatic numbers had the audience rhythmically matching them up with talams and even singing along.

Kalpa Druma's annual festival, Kalpa Druma Arts and Artistes is organised in the memory of its founder, the late KS Parameswaran. Each year, Kala Druma organises a series of events, bringing legends of Carnatic music together.

— Team Espresso

Kalpa Druma Arts and Artistes is an annual festival dedicated to its founder, Late KS Parameswaran